Dear Sir:

It is desirable to call your attention to a condition which has existed in camp SP-1-Pa., Wildwood, Allegheny County, North Park a suburb of Pittsburgh, Pa.

During the second week of November entire body of men in camp dould not work on a forestry project by reason of lack of proper winter clothing. Some of this material has since arrived. However there are forty (40) men without overshoes and under condition of bad weather must remain in camp pending the arrival of completed issue.

It is urged that immediate action be taken in this matter, and a suitable stock of all winter clothing supplies be furnished.

Upon inspecting the supply division of this camp I have observed very little replacements for emergency.

In connection with the above it is also suggested that a complete issue of shoes be forwarded here as soon as possible and also bedsheets which are extremely important for health and sanitation.

Yours very truly,

Charles H. Kenlan

EN OF THREE COS. FIGHT RES TO SAVE BARRACKS

Men Lose All Possessions in Destruction of Penn. Co. Barracks

CALIFORNIA MAN CITED

Men Recalled From Leave as Flames Threaten Virginia Camp

Two companies in the East were forced to battle fires to save their camps from possible destruction, and an enrollee of a California camp was cited by the commanding general for his heady work in preventing the spread of a threatening blaze in his camp.

First notice of the presence of fire at Co. 1383, Wildwood, Pa., came when flaming tongues were seen licking under the eaves of a barrack, says Reporter Anton. Luckily, the wind carried the flames away rather than toward the rest of the buildings. The men working in the fields rushed back to camp when they spotted a pillar of smoke coiling high into the sky.

Stimulated to a heroic pitch, some enrollees tried to plunge into the burning structure to save property, but were prevented by officers who were alive to the danger. Four volunteer fire departments rushed to the aid of the campmen, but the barrack was too far gone; they concentrated their efforts on saving the adjacent buildings.

Results: One barrack burned to ashes; not even a piece of property or clothing saved. Estimated loss was about $6,000. Cots from National Guard Headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pa., were rushed to the recreation hall to meet the emergency. The cause of the fire is not known. Carl Anton reporting.

GENERAL PRAISES BOY'S QUICK ACTION

Praise from high places showered down on Enrollee Bob Boberg of Co. 905, Azusa, Calif., who by his cool-headedness and quick action probably saved the entire camp and held fire loss down to a minimum.

While Boberg was servicing a forestry truck in the garage, static electricity started a blaze; disregarding his own personal safety, he remained in the building long enough to shut off the gasoline faucet, and though painfully burned, removed the truck from danger.

An official letter of commendation from Maj. Gen. Malin Craig, commanding the Ninth Corps Area, was read to Enrollee Boberg by Lieut. Col. Oldfield of Fort MacArthur in front of the assembled company. The letter stated:

"Due to your courage and intelligence, the loss in the fire was limited to the gasoline storage house and 900 gallons of gasoline, whereas, if you had not acted as you did, the entire camp would have in all probability been entirely destroyed with attendant loss of life."
